

What is BLUE?

Encourage your child to find the blue objects in the shadow boxes. Have them count how many blue objects they can find. Talk about the names of each object and repeat the beginning sound of each one. Identifying colors and objects helps children increase their vocabulary. Recognizing the beginning sounds of words prepares children for reading.

This Learning Spot features the READ Early Literacy Practice.

Look around the library

Walk around the second floor of the library and search for other blue objects. Have your child name them and repeat the beginning sound of each word. Talk about the letters that correspond to those beginning sounds. Did you find these blue objects and beginning sounds?
