Laramie County Library to Host Speed Repping Event with Elected Officials

On Tuesday, November 5th at 6:30 p.m. in the Cottonwood Room, Laramie County Library will host several elected officials from state, county, and city governments, including Governor Mark Gordon and Mayor Marian Orr, for a “Speed Repping” event. During the event, attendees can have their concerns and questions addressed directly by participating in brief, timed, one-on-one conversations with their representatives. The event will run until 8:00 p.m., so that each official will have time to speak to eighteen individuals.

Up-to-date information on which officials will be in attendance and specific guidelines for the event can be found at lclsonline.org. The titles and job descriptions of each official will also be posted; the library encourages interested participants to look over the list and ensure they are posing their questions to the relevant official. The library will begin assigning time slots for representatives half an hour before the event on a first come, first served basis.

This event is presented as part of Laramie County Library System, League of Women Voters Cheyenne, Wyoming Tribune Eagle, and Laramie County Community College’s celebration of Women’s Suffrage. It is one of several free and public events around the community celebrating suffrage, civic activism, and democracy.
