Laramie County Library System Meeting Rooms Open at Full Capacity

Laramie County Library System's meeting rooms are now operating at full capacity. Community members are invited to book the Cottonwood Room, Willow Room, Windflower Room, or Sunflower Room for their meetings, events, presentations, and more. With equipment such as projectors, microphones, and pianos available for check out, the library's meeting rooms are versatile to meet any organization's needs. All seating that was removed throughout the facility to enforce social distancing has now been replaced, along with tables and book displays. Some seating has been added back to The Library Café as well. The Commons, a communal gathering space on the first floor is open and available for use. Board games, puzzles, coloring sheets, and the library's large chess board are now all available to enjoy throughout the building.

My Library Place and the interactive bookmobile, just outside the Early Literacy Center on the 2nd floor, are also open to the public. The indoor play place is specially designed to help teach early literacy skills and capture children's imagination as they explore the interactive area. The library's Early Literacy Center will reopen on July 1, 2021. Children and parents are also invited to pick up interactive crafts, event kits, or Summer Reading cards from the 2nd floor during their visit.

With in-person outdoor events and book clubs, virtual offerings, meeting room space, a Summer Reading Challenge and take-home activities, the library is a one-stop-shop for summer fun! Masks are recommended for library visitors, especially for those who are not vaccinated. Visit LaramieCountyLibrary.org to discover everything the library has to offer.
